"Borftein's been checking on that possibility," he said. "It'll be forty minutes before the Kuan-yin goes behind the rim. Stern won't launch before then." know I've ratted on him." her suspicions directly, however, she would risk driving Leilani to further evasion. For reasons that she. Kalens had argued a case to the effect that Wellesley could, which had been concocted by a couple of lawyers that he had spoken to a day previously. At the same time, however, the lawyers had cautioned that the issue would be subject to a ruling by the Judiciary, and Kalens had come in an endeavor to obtain in advance from Fulmir an intimation of the likely verdict, hinting that a favorable disposition would not go forgotten in times to come. The endeavor had backfired spectacularly. "What other way is there?" Lechat Eked. "I think so. I can find it anyway." Yet instinct causes the young intruder to halt one step past the threshold. "Was it ever like this? I certainly don't remember." The closet just inside the front door provided a perfect haven from the goblins that were sometimes. "So where do we go from here?" Borftein asked, returning to the subject in an effort to defuse the atmosphere. Stormbel gave him a contemptuous look. "How much of your Army is left?" he asked. "Almost all of it is on the surface, and the officers commanding the key units are already with us. Besides, we control the ship, which is the most important thing." He had a bone to chew with Fate, and he gnawed at it even though he knew that of the two of them, Two stools away, Burt Hooper chokes violently on his waffles and chicken. His fork clatters against his. fifty or a hundred thousand volts of electricity through her brain, but it didn't help." Gaulitz nodded hastily and touched a control to bring a view of the Kuan-yin onto the room's main display screen. It showed Chironian shuttles at all the docking ports, and more standing a few miles off and apparently waiting to move in. "this is a further corroboration from views obtained this morning," he said. "All indications are that the Chironians have evacuated the vessel, which supports the contention of its being cleared for action." "But the people I work for might take it into their heads to decide they own it," Driscoll pointed out. Utah night, four feet above the highway. "I see." Stern studied her face for what seemed like a long time. At last he asked in a strangely curious voice, "And if I did, what then, Celia?" "Maybe. Who knows? Let's just hope there aren't too many of them in the Army." Bernard's first, fleeting impressions of Franklin from the streaking maglev car were of a hopelessly jumbled-up clutter of a town. Unlike the neat and orderly models of urban planning that had replaced the heaps of American rubble during the recovery after the Lean Years--with business, entertainment, industrial, and residential sectors segregated by green belts and tidy landscaping--everything in Franklin seemed to be intermingled with no discernible rhyme or reason. Buildings, towers, houses, and unidentifiable constructions of all shapes, sizes, and colors were packed together, overlapping and fusing in some places while giving way to clumps of greenery and trees in others. The whole resulted in a patchwork quilt that looked like a mixture of old New York flattened out somewhat and miniaturized--Paris, and Hong Kong harbor. In one place a canal flanked by an elevated railroad seemed to cut right through a complex that could have been a school or a hospital; in another, the steps of an imposing building with a dignified frontage led directly down to a swimming pool in the center of a large, grassy square surrounded by trees and a confusion of homes and shops. A river opened up as the car crossed through a suspended section of tube, giving a glimpse of a few yachts drifting lazily here and there, a couple of larger ships moored lower down where the mouth widened against a background of open 'sea, and numerous personal flying vehicles buzzing to and fro overhead; a scene of robot cranes and earthmovers excavating a site on the far bank came and went, and then the car plunged into the lower levels of the metropolis ahead and began slowing as it approached its destination. sufficiently well informed about the darker side of human nature to understand what he saw in that jar. he was a brave boy; but no brave boy surrenders this easily to his misery. when, as she lay sleepless in another time and place, they had rolled past in the night with a rhythmic. He knows this to be true not entirely. Lechat nodded and seemed satisfied. "That gets us up there," he said. "Now what about getting into the Communications Center?" the mothering. Only the normality mattered. The peace. Here, now, Leilani was overcome with a pleasant. Providing for Laura was the reason that he worked, the reason that he lived in a low-rent apartment, "That's my car," he explained. "I'm behind the wheel." IN THE ARMCHAIR, Noah Farrel talked past the point where he bothered to listen to himself. Outside the Haven of the Lonesome and the Long Forgotten, under trellises draped with bougainvillea, "Why do people follow leaders?" Pernak replied. "For collective-strength. What do you need collective strength for? Because strength ultimately gets to control the wealth and to impose ideas. But why does a race of millionaires need leaden if it already has all the material wealth it needs, and isn't interested in imposing ideas on anyone because nobody ever taught it to? The Chironians don't. There isn't anything to scare them with. You won't start any crusades down there because they won't take any notice." Here, now, the hot August darkness. The moon. The stars and the mysteries beyond. No getaway train. eager to put some distance between himself and this complex of buildings. Colman came out of the Omar Bradley Block and began walking quickly toward the main gate. Vehicles were landing and taking off continually in the depot area while ammunition boxes were hastily unloaded from ground trucks; the barracks area seemed to be alive with squads doubling this way and that, and officers shouting orders. Sandbagged weapons pits that hadn't existed hours earlier had appeared at strategic places, and new ones were still being dug. As the tattooed serpent's grin grew wider on the beefy hand, the snake charmer laughed. "I like you, this weakness, she continued eating even though her throat grew so thick with emotion that she had. excited because this is a situation encountered in all the adventure stories that he loves. "Exactly what Jeeves told Jay when he asked-an accident with a magnetic antimatter confinement system; so it was a good thing we decided to store it well away from Chiron. We could hardly disguise that after it happened, which was another good reason for needing the Kuan-yin." "So what about the nuts?" Jay asked. "What do you do about people who insist on being as unreasonable and oh= noxious as they can, just for the hell of it?" holds fiercely to them, anyway, because he knows from long experience that hunger can quickly return in. Kalens had evidently been working on the details for some time. He recovered the support of the commercial lobby by proposing that Chironian "nursery-school economics" be excluded from the enclave, and won the professional interests over with a plan to tie all exchanges of goods and services conducted within the boundary to a special issue of currency to be underwritten by the Mayflower II's bank. The Chironians who lived and worked inside the prescribed limits would be free to come and go and to remain resident if they desired, provided that they recognize and observe Terran law. If they did not, they would be subject to the same enforcement as anyone else. If its integrity was threatened by disruptive external influences, the enclave would be defended as national territory. "There's half a pie left," Geneva offered cheerily. "How can they when there are hardly any around to start with?" Juanita asked him. "We told you--if they're like that, they don't last very long." heard the screams of the others, but by the time he found them, they were dead, and their steaming. Sitting on the edge of the bed once more, Curtis extracts the wadded currency from the pockets of his
