lay another huddled heap, rotted red silk, long hair, bones. Beyond it the iron pot. "How do we get all that back to the village?" he asked the hinny. She looked after herself through life. Of course she thought a merchant's life wasn't good enough for the boy. Early did not punish Hound for his failure, but he remembered it. He was not used to failures and did not like them. He did not like what Hound told him about this boy, Otter, and he remembered it. He was sitting a little way from where he lay, looking at himself, although it was still utterly information, communication, protection, and teaching. His humble teachers had taught him all the words they knew of the Language of the Making. Among them had been neither the name of semen nor the name of quicksilver. But his lips parted, his tongue moved. "Ayezur" he said. League of mages. Proud and secure in their powers, they had sought to teach others to band. "And perhaps because such arts have not the power they once had," he said. He did not know himself. paces from me; he had a thin, matted mane; he stretched, once, twice; with a slow undulation of herds and villagers of the lonely western isles. Erreth-Akbe's next challenger was a mage called the Firelord, whose power was so great that he the island, a sea no boat could venture out in. decide, act as a man or as a wizard against the wizard who hunted him. Golden chewed very slowly, his eyes on the table. Diamond had seen his father look like this when a forester reported an infestation in the chestnut groves, and when he found a mule-dealer had cheated him. long, and not meeting his eyes. Like an animal, like a cat, she was, sizing him up but not size and prosperity. "Edran," said the Namer promptly, and laughed. "Drake. Dragon...". The Patterner came forward and took her hands in his. His hands were warm, and she felt so. "Learn our strength!" said Medra. "Master Hand," said the Doorkeeper, "she asked to enter as a student, and I saw no reason to deny her." "How can I explain? To put it simply, one makes dresses, clothing in general --. He got to his knees, and thought then to whisper, "Thank you, mother." He got to his feet, and fell, because his left hip gave way with a pain that made him cry out aloud. After a while he tried again, and stood up. Then he started forward. "Can't be done." He named the Masters, Hand and Herbal, Summoner and Patterner, Windkey and Chanter, and the Namer. Heru, the Queen Mother, gave the emissary the arm ring Morred gave Elfarran; her consort Aimal had given it to her when they married. It had come down through the generations of the descendants of Serriadh, and was their most precious possession. On it was carved a figure written nowhere else, the Bond Rune or Rune of Peace, believed to be a guarantee of peaceful and righteous rule. "Let the Kargish king wear Morred's ring," the Queen Mother said. So, bringing it as the most generous of gifts and in pledge of peaceful intent, Erreth-Akbe went alone to the City of the Kings on Karego-At. Later he knew he should never have let the boy leave the house. He had underestimated Diamond's willpower, or the strength of the spell the girl had laid on him. Their conversation was in the morning; Hemlock went back to the ancient cantrip he was annotating; it was not till supper time that he thought about his pupil, and not until he had eaten supper alone that he admitted that Diamond had run away. made himself comfortable in his coil of cable and watched the stars. Looking west, he saw the four accepting their judgment over his own. "Thorion has been much with the other Masters, and with the where was old Early and had the fleet been to Roke and come back and all. Early, they said, nobody control, was to ask him. "What is your name?" he said, watching Otter intently. The food of dragons is said to be light, or fire; they kill in rage, to defend their young, or for sport, but never eat their kill. Since time immemorial, until the reign of Heru, they had used only the outmost isles of the West Reach-which may have been the easternmost borders of their own realm-for meeting and breeding, and had seldom even been seen by most of the islanders. Naturally irritable and arrogant, the dragons may have felt threatened by the increasing population and prosperity of the Inner Lands, which brought constant boat traffic even out in the West Reach. For whatever the reason, in those years they made increasing raids, sudden and random, on flocks and herds and villagers of the lonely western isles. Neither of them had been on Pody. It was a sleepy southern island with a pretty old port town, anything? Medra bowed his head, standing there. "Anieb," he said, "can you come back this far? I don't know the way." He waited a while. He saw darkness, heard silence. Slow and halting, he entered the passage. file:///D:/Documents%20and%20Settings/harry/...0%20LeGuin%20-%20Tales%20From%20Earthsea.txt (37 of 111) [2/5/2004 12:33:31 AM]. "Why did you break your Rule for me? Was it fair to me, who can never be what you are?". Not much mixing of the Kargish and Archipelagan skin-color types has taken place except on Osskil, "You have-" he said-"you have to go. Back." As he said "Back," his left hand struck down on the air like a knife, and Ayeth fell backward against a chair, staring. sold a child out of poverty to work for him, he paid them in true ivory; if they sold a child to bold and graceful, her head carried high. His father had named him Banner of War. He had come west, leaving all he knew behind him, and had spot, because the momentum made me stumble. I caught my balance but was spun around, so that. This is only a seeming of me, a presentment, a sending," the old man said to her. "I don't live here either. Miles off." He gestured northward. "You might come there when you're done with the Patterner here. I'd like to learn more about your name." He nodded to the other two mages and was not there. A bumblebee buzzed heavily through the air where he had been. "Ride back," he said. "Leave me here. There's enough food for one man for three or four days more." "Rast?" I repeated helplessly. frightened. He stood still and looked at the people who came to meet him. man hesitated. the fishermen can't pay us. "Destroy us? Destroy this hill? The trees there?" She looked down to a grove of trees not far from the hill. "Maybe Segoy who made them could unmake them. Maybe the earth will destroy herself. Maybe she'll destroy herself through our hands, in the end. But not through yours. False king, false dragon, false man, don't come to Roke Knoll until you know the ground you stand on." She made one gesture of her hand, downward to the earth. tales, and songs, is written in the characters properly called Hardic runes. Most Archipelagans. So they sailed south in Hopeful, landing first at malodorous Geath, and then in the guise of peddlers working their way from one islet to the next among the mazy channels. Crow had stocked the boat with better wares than most householders of the Isles were used to seeing, and Tern offered them at fair prices, mostly in barter, since there was little money among the islanders. Their popularity ran ahead of them. It was known that they would trade for books, if the books were old and uncanny. But in the Isles all books were old and all uncanny, what there was of them. "It'll stop by midday," the wizard told the chickens. They had little trust in men. A man had betrayed them. Men had attacked them. It was men's sunlight; and the first part of the Great House they made was its inmost heart, the courtyard of. The history of the Fourteen Kings of Havnor (actually six kings and eight queens, ~150-400) is told in the Havnorian Lay. Tracing descent both through the male and the female lines, and intermarrying with various noble houses of the Archipelago, the royal house embraced five principalities: the House of Enlad, the oldest, tracing direct descent from Morred and Serriadh; the Houses of Shelieth, Ea, and Havnor; and lastly the House of Ilien. Prince Gemal Seaborn of Ilien was the first of his house to take the throne in Havnor. His granddaughter was Queen Heru; her son, Maharion (reigned 430-452), was the last king before the Dark Time..in Hardic: "A woman on Gont."
