Serve her chicken sandwiches, and she'll give." If Lukipela isn't on an alien planet, then he's somewhere else, and wherever that somewhere might be, Lesley turned to Jarvis. "Power the tubes back up and get sop-e more guys down there fast. Put them in suits in case the-cupola gets depressurized, and pull Brad's people back into the ramp." Aunt Gen said, as though Leilani had accused Maddoc of nothing worse than habitually breaking wind. "I never go to the movies." "Bluffing, hell." Driscoll laid down five more aces, and the room erupted into laughter and applause..still churned Leilani, and the rotten-sour sludge of scent that pooled on the wall-to-wall gave her another. Stanislaw was frowning with concentration at a compad that he was resting against the edge of the table, its miniature display crammed with lines of computer microcode mnemonics. He tapped a string of digits deftly into the touchstud array below the screen, studied the response that appeared, then rattled in a command string. A number appeared low down in a corner. Stanislaw looked up triumphantly at Sirocco.

"3.141592653," he announced. "It's pi to ten places." Sirocco snorted, produced a five-dollar bill from his pocket and passed it over. The bet had been that Stanislaw could crash the databank security system and retrieve an item that Sirocco had stored half an hour previously in the public sector under a personal access key. Adam seemed to think about it for a long time. "No ..." he said slowly at last. "We're on our own on a grain of dust somewhere in a gas of galaxies. Inventing guardian angels for company won't change it. Whether we make it or not is up to us. If we mess it up, the universe out there won't miss us." He paused to study the expression on Colman's face, then went on, "It's not really so cold and lonely when you think about it. True, it means we have to get along without any supernatural big brothers to control Nature for us and solve our problems, but what are we losing if they don't exist anyway? On the other hand, we don't have to fear all the nonsense that gets invented along with them either. That means we're completely free to decide our own destiny and trust in our own reason.
