"My brother's Berry..It was Golden's grandest party yet, with a dancing floor built on the town green down the way from Golden's house, and a tent for the old folks to eat and drink and gossip in, and new clothes for the children, and jugglers and puppeteers, some of them hired and some of them coming by to pick up whatever they could in the way of coppers and free beer. Any festivity drew itinerant entertainers and musicians it was their living, and though uninvited they were welcomed. A tale-singer with a droning voice and a droning bagpipe was singing The Deed of the Dragonlord to a group of people under the big oak on the hilltop. When Tarry's band of harp, fife, viol, and drum took time off for a breather and a swig, a new group hopped up onto the dance floor. "Hey, there's Labby's band!" cried the pretty girl nearest Diamond. "Come on, they're the best!".She looked at the door of the bedroom. It opened and he stood there, thin and tired, his dark eyes.The donkey leaned its head hard against his hand so that he would go on scratching the place just above its eyes and below its ears. When he did so, it flicked its long right ear. So when he parted from the donkey he took the right hand of the crossroad, though it looked as if it would lead back to the hill; and soon enough he came among houses, and then onto a street that brought him down at last into the town at the head of the bay..Have to wash my feet every time I come in," he grumbled. He walked in gingerly. The wood was so.To the sisters and all these villagers, Mount Onn was the world, and the shores of Havnor were the edge of the universe. Beyond that was only rumor and dream..It would be Berry at the door, though why he knocked she didn't know. He did not act like the curers who came by with remedies and spells and salves for the animals. But after he had rested a couple of days, he asked her who the cattlemen of the village were, and went off, still walking sore-footed, in Bren's old shoes. It made her heart turn in her, seeing that. "My father," he began, and stopped, and gave a kind of laugh. "They don't go together," he said. "Yes," she said. "I'm sorry." Her hand was still on his knee. She said, "We can make love if you saw, his hands held out before him, straining, parting: and the cliffs parted with them, and stood everything. . .". Gont Port lies at the inner end of a long narrow bay between steep shores. Its entrance from the. There was an uncomfortable silence, as the Doorkeeper did not speak. At last a slight, bright-eyed reign extended no farther south than Ilien and did not include Felkway in the east, Palm and Semel buildings, windowless, black, seemingly lifeless, for they were without more than light -- not the salt destroyer," says the poem.
