"Now that is interesting," said the old scholar, sitting up straighter. "I told you I was reading about dragons. You know there's been talk of them flying over the Inmost Sea as far east as Gont. That was no doubt Kalessin taking Ged home, multiplied by sailors making a good story better. But a boy swore to me that his whole village had seen dragons flying, this spring, west of Mount Onn. And so I was reading old books, to learn when they ceased to come east of Pendor. And in one I came on your story, or something like it. That men and dragons were all one kind, but they quarrelled. Some went west and some east, and they

He had said nothing about himself, but Dulse had asked around a bit. The father, a longshoreman, had died in the big earthquake, when Silence would have been seven or eight; the mother was a cook at a waterfront inn. At twelve the boy had got into some kind of trouble, probably messing about with magic, and his mother had managed to prentice him to Elassen, a respectable sorcerer in Valmouth. There the boy had picked up his true name, and some skill in carpentry and farmwork, if not much else; and Elassen had had the generosity, after three years, to pay his passage to Roke. That was all Dulse knew about him..He was only a little sorcerer, a cheating healer with a few sorry spells. Or so he seemed. What if.You must not weaken, and not think, "Oh, if I just beg them to let me in, they can't refuse me."..Dulse knew no transformation that was irrevocable, no spell that could not be unsaid, except the."Thought you might. As for King Losen," Hound said, "who knows." He sniffed and sighed. "If I was him I'd retire" he said. "I think I'll do that myself."..know them now..The danger in trying to do good is that the mind comes to confuse the intent of goodness with the.hellhounds and probably a drunk old man. But it was worth the chance, he thought; he was bored out.anything to do with what I do, what my mother does. Well, I don't want anything to do with what."The father and the witch-girl," said Darkrose.
